

Nepenthes ventricosa x sibuyanensis

Catalogue Description

This new hybrid is special because it produces pitchers comparable in size to the spectacular pitcher of Nepenthes sibuyanensis but without that species' annoying habit of only producing only one or two pitchers at any time. Each leaf will produce a long lasting pitcher and it's as vigorous as Nepenthes ventricosa. A great beginners plant and hanging basket candidate as the photos on these pages clearly show. Colouration is usually bright orange but more rarely we have seen a beautiful pink form appearing.

Native Area

Horticultural, Borneo Exotics' Nurseries. First germinated June 2007.

Cultivation Conditions

Intermediate highland.

Available Varieties

BE-3295

Random selection of seed grown individuals mixed with 12 clones from tissue culture.

Photo Gallery

Please click on photos to download high resolution versions which may be used freely online provided credit is given to Borneo Exotics.

